- B.C.'s economy expands 2.8% in 2011.
- Real per capita disposable income in the household sector rises 0.9% in 2011.
- Retail sales edge up 0.3% in September.

Gross Domestic Product (GDP)

- British Columbia's real gross domestic product (GDP) expanded 2.8% in 2011, a rate of growth that was markedly slower than the 3.2% growth registered during the previous year. The increase in GDP was largely driven by a 3.3% increase in final domestic demand (total spending by households & non-profit institutions, businesses, and governments) with capital investment by the business sector (+9.3%) and household spending (+2.5%) fuelling growth.

  While investment in residential construction rose 3.4%, the chief reason for the upswing in the capital investment within the business sector was double-digit increases in investment in both machinery & equipment (+13.7%) and non-residential buildings (+13.6%).

  Spending on goods and services by the government sector advanced moderately (+1.2%), while government capital investment fell slightly (−1.3%) in 2011.

  Reflecting the overall increase in spending by the household sector and investment by the business sector, imports jumped 6.6%. Exports, however, saw more moderate growth (+4.9%).

  Data Source: Statistics Canada

- Real GDP per capita in British Columbia rose 1.8% to $45,083 (chained 2007 dollars) in 2011, well below the national average of $47,221. B.C.'s per capita GDP ranked fifth among the provinces, behind Alberta ($72,689), Newfoundland and Labrador ($56,626), Saskatchewan ($54,388), and Ontario ($45,254).

  Data Source: BC Stats & Statistics Canada

- In the household sector real disposable (i.e. after tax) income per capita in B.C. expanded 0.9% to $26,788, slightly less than the national average ($27,318). Real per capita disposable income in B.C. ranked fourth behind Alberta ($36,147), Saskatchewan ($28,460) and Ontario ($27,178). Data Source: BC Stats & Statistics Canada

- The debt service ratio in B.C. (mortgage and other interest as a percentage of household disposable income) was 9.6% in 2011. Mortgage interest accounted for three-fifths (59%) of interest paid, the remaining interest being paid on non-mortgage debt (e.g. consumer credit cards). In real per capita terms, households in B.C. paid $2,644 in interest on mortgage and debts. Data Source: BC Stats & Statistics Canada

- Nationally, economic activity expanded 2.6% in 2011, advancing at a slightly slower pace than that set in 2010. Nearly every province recorded an increase in GDP, with Western Canada responsible for the lion's share of total economic growth. Alberta (+5.1%), Saskatchewan (+4.9%), and B.C. (+2.8%), along with Newfoundland and Labrador (+3.0%), posted GDP increases ahead of the national average.

  Relative to other provinces, British Columbia remained the country's fourth largest economy (behind Ontario, Quebec, and Alberta) and was fourth strongest in terms of economic growth in 2011. Data Source: Statistics Canada

Consumer Price Index (CPI)

- Consumer prices in British Columbia rose 0.5% in October compared to the same month a year earlier. Energy prices rose moderately (+1.1%) as the cost of natural gas fell (-4.0%) and prices for gasoline (+0.3%) and fuel oil (+0.5%) increased only slightly.

Food prices climbed 1.9% in October, primarily due to a 2.0% increase in the cost of restaurant meals. Grocery bills were also higher (+1.9%), led by a jump in prices for fruit (+5.9%), seafood (+3.7%), and meat (+2.4%).

Overall, shelter costs (-0.3%) slid lower for a fifth straight month, largely due to lower mortgage carrying costs. Rent (+1.5%), utilities bills (+2.4%), property taxes (+3.5%), and homeowner maintenance costs (+4.9%) increased. Household operations & furnishings (+1.3%) were slightly more expensive in October, while prices on clothing and footwear (-0.9%) inched lower.

Transportation costs climbed 1.1% with a substantial increase in auto insurance premiums (+5.2%) and maintenance (+3.1%) responsible for much of the increase.

Prices for health & personal care services edged down 0.2%, while those for recreation, education & reading materials inched ahead (+0.4%). Alcohol & tobacco products were also up slightly (+0.6%) compared to the previous year. Data Source: Statistics Canada

- Nationally, consumer prices rose 1.2% in October, with the largest increases recorded in Newfoundland & Labrador (+2.2%) and P.E.I. (+2.1%). B.C. (+0.5%) and Alberta (+0.6%) posted the lowest inflation rates among the provinces. Data Source: Statistics Canada

The Economy

- Receipts earned by retailers in British Columbia inched ahead 0.3% (seasonally adjusted) in September. Clothing & accessory stores (+3.1%) and motor vehicles & parts dealers (+1.6%) posted the largest increases, while sporting goods, hobby & book shops (-3.7%), general merchandise stores (-1.7%) and gasoline stations (-1.5%) registered slowdowns.

  At the national level retail sales edged up just 0.1% in September. Five provinces posted stronger retail sales with increases in Alberta (+1.7%), Manitoba (+1.2%), and New Brunswick (+1.1%) leading the way.
